DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Group I, claims 1-6 drawn to semiconductor devices with roughened interposer.

Group II, claims 12-17, drawn to semiconductors with a roughened surface.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

During a telephone conversation with James Duzan on December 14, 2005 a provisional election was made without traverse to prosecute the invention of Group I, claims 1-6. Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action. Claims 12-17 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant's Admitted Prior Art (AAPA) in view of USPN 5,950,071 to Hammond et al. AAPA describes (Specification, Background of the Invention, [0003]-[0005]) "mounting the semiconductor die to the substrate" and subsequent encapsulation and possible contamination. The "substrate" is another description of an "interposer". Further device examples are given including devices wherein "a removal process is undertaken to remove the resist without damaging the fabricated semiconductor package." AAPA does not disclose using a laser to produce a roughened surface. Hammond et al disclose (column 2, lines 17-26) the use of laser ablation for removing a thin surface layer of substrate of a semiconductor. It would have been obvious at the time applicant's invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art that the use of the AAPA laser treatments would include the roughening of the semiconductor surface by the laser treatment during removal of the resist portion because the roughening effect is well known and described by Hammond et al. Most of the dependent claims do not positively further limit the article base claims because they describe apparatus features. With respect to claims 4 and 15, BGA workpieces are well known and are described in US Patents cited in Applicant's Specification.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed October 17, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's argument that the instant claims are drawn to workpieces having portions thereof which are superior for subsequent adherence to mold material, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. JP360097643A describes laser removal of resist from the surface of a semiconductor. The US Patents describe laser surface treatment.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
